Total Points	74
Comments	Great job! You have demonstrated clearly your idea and collected a good amount of feedback. But who is the solution customer (ie. end user?) On the FAQ, you seem to have mixed-up and considered the City of Munich the customer, but here it is meant the customer as the end-user of the solution (so the companies. Who are you targeting? Is the solution suitable to all types of organizations and industries?) You mentioned the tool has no cost, really? What about development, piloting, launching, maintaining? Are there distribution costs? What about customer support? You need to address the desirability of such app by the companies. Are they willing to share information and network? What can motivate them to spend time in doing it and specially in doing it through the app rather than the workshops or other substitute formats?
